Mr. Card,

I am taking this time to communicate with you regarding our experience with your workers and product. When I decided to add a sunroom to our house, I realized the production would be stressful and full of potential irritants, having dealt with other contractors in the past.

Without a doubt, your people are the best at what they do. John and Brian were "smokin" and enclosed our screen house in less time than I could have imagined. While John continued with the finish work, Brian hand dug the fifteen-foot trench for the footing, not an easy fit for this big guy. He did it because the scheduled worker had called in sick, but the project had to be completed.

George and his two helpers set up for the pouring of the footings and after the cement set up, left our patio in excellent shape.

On Saturday, John and Brian completed nearly all the installation but darkness prevented completion of the job.

I was getting worried as we had planned a vacation on the following Monday and did not like the idea of leaving without seeing everything buttoned up. Not to worry, John showed up Sunday afternoon and fixed everything.

To summarize, my experience with your workers was nothing but positive. They were professional in all aspects of their job, neat, courteous and above all competent. I would not hesitate to offer a great recommendation to others who might be considering a project with Tri-State Building Specialties.

Sincerely,

Kevin Lynn
